Christian Day School Education Committee votes to consolidate with Glades Day School

School to close after 25 years

By Brenda Bunting
Editor

Tuesday was an emotional day. Students and teachers were crying and hugging each other as Christian Day School staff and students learned the school will close its doors after 25 years of offering a Christian education in the Glades.

Education Committee Board member Joyce Chamblee said it was a very sad day as first the juniors, and then other students were told the school will be consolidating with Glades Day School in the fall. Mrs. Chamblee was on the first committee which started the school in 1969.

"We don't have a choice. It's being done for financial reasons," she said.

"We couldn't keep the school. It began two years ago when Glades Day School approached us about merging. After that, the community chose. It was never against anybody or anything, but many people took it personally."

The board met Monday night and again Tuesday morning with officials from Glades Day School to work out the terms of the merger.

The issue went before the First Baptist Church Board Wednesday night.

Christian Day has 278 students, Glades Day has 530. Not all the students will choose to go to Glades Day. Some will go back into the public school system, but those who do decide to go to Glades Day will get a warm welcome, according to GDS Headmaster Buddy Sizemore.

"I don't anticipate any problems with the kids," he said. "These kids have grown up together, they live in the same neighborhoods. I know it's going to be difficult, especially for the juniors, but in the long run, it's a blessing for the whole community."

The junior high and senior high school students, grades seventh through 12th, will be immediately accepted at Glades Day. The existing Christian Day Elementary School will continue to operate next year in the current CDS high school building, utilizing the same staff, faculty and curriculum as they now have in place, and under the direction of the Board and administration of Glades Day School. CDS Principal Andy Wright will remain principal over that elementary school.

James Herring, Jr., chairman of the board at Glades Day, said in a letter to Glades Day School parents which went out Tuesday morning, "We are at the threshold of a defining moment for Glades Day School and the Glades communities. If this plan is approved by the First Baptist Church, we ask that you help us extend a warm and friendly welcome to those transferring from Christian Day School."

Mrs. Chamblee said she believed the consolidation would work out. "The kids will be fine. I think though that it's important to say that I really feel like teaching kids the Bible and God's ways is truly important to a child's education. If we don't, we're going to lose them. I hope and pray Glades Day School will realize the importance," she concluded.

Mr. Sizemore said Glades Day School will have no problem incorporating all the new students. The school has been in the process of expanding to include a new cafeteria and four additional elementary classrooms. The existing classrooms and additional restrooms, bring the total to seven new classrooms.

"Any kind of change is difficult," said Mr. Sizemore, but now we'll all be going in one direction. "We're going to welcome them with open arms," he said. "These kids are our neighbors and we love them. We've never had a problem before when students have transferred from Christian Day and I don't anticipate any problems now." Glades Day School has always operated on Christian principles, Mr. Sizemore said, and the school will continue to do so.

Pahokee commissioners want Canal Point water bills paid

Tammy Jackson
Staff Reporter

The Pahokee City Commission met Tuesday evening and they addressed the water issue and the Canal Point residents and business. According to Pahokee City Manager Ken Schenck, Utilities Incorporated presently has receivership of the Canal Point community's water.

The courts awarded Utilities Incorporated the receivership after the former department, Southeastern States Utilities, were extremely in debt to the City of Pahokee. Pahokee City Clerk Debra Palmer said Southeastern States Utilities owes the city $77,916.96.

According to Commissioner John Norman, the city cannot afford to let the new company get into debt.

Comm. Norman told the commission that it is unfair to the Pahokee residents.

"If this new company doesn't pay their bill, we shut the meter off," he said.

However, Pahokee City Attorney Michael Stauder told the commission there needs to be some sort of notice before the water is disconnected. He said, "We cannot just cut off their water and not give them any notice."

According to Mr. Schenck, all water bills are due 21 days after they are mailed. If the bills aren't paid after 21 days, a late notice is sent which gives the user five days to pay before being disconnected.

Commissioner Keith Babb Jr. said, "Our ultimate goal is not to turn off their water but we will do it."

K-9 dog finds drugs at Glades Correctional Institution

By Eric Kopp

K-9 Sparkey spent a lot of his time last Friday, May 13, scratching - not fleas but for dope.

In what was termed as one of the most successful drug sweeps ever staged at Glades Correctional Institution (GCI), Sparkey found over 20 grams of marijuana in an inmate's cell.

Sparkey and his handler, Deputy Rick Voss of the Glades County Sheriff's Office, spent three hours at GCI. The deputy said Sparkey indicated four positive alerts in Dorn D by scratching those areas where he smelled drugs.

The 3-year-old K-9 found 22.7 grams of marijuana inside a concrete wall in a cell. Deputy Voss said the pot was wrapped in toilet paper and stuffed into a hole where an electrical outlet had once been. The deputy said the marijuana had an estimated street value of $415.

Sparkey also sniffed out $306 in drug money. Deputy Voss said he knew it was money used in a drug transaction because of the residual odor. The odor of handling the dope goes from the person's hands onto the money, he said.

"I pound odor into the dog," said Deputy Voss. "I train him constantly."

GCI Superintendent Gerald H. Abul-Wasi indicated he was more than just pleased with the work of Voss' yellow labrador.

"He did an excellent job," said Mr. Wasi. "To my knowledge, it was the best results we've had thus far."

He went on to say this type of operation will be carried out again. "We plan to do more," he added. "As long as we have drugs in the prison system we will continue to identify the problem."

As for the inmate, Mr. Wasi said the investigation isn't complete. "Disciplinary action is still pending," he said. "It may be referred to the state attorney."

Deputy Voss and Sparkey were asked by GCI to assist in the institution's efforts to curb the use and sale of drugs inside the prison.

Maude Vereen and local police officers honored at fifth annual Law Officers Appreciation Day

Maude Vereen, chairperson for the fifth Annual Law Enforcement Appreciation Day at Mount Zion A.M.E. Church in Belle Glade was preparing a program of service to police officers Sunday, May 22.

She got a surprise when the officers and Chief Michael Miller turned the program around and also honored her for sponsoring the program for five years.

She was also honored for 36 years with the Belle Glade Police Department.

The service began with singing by the I.S. Jones Choir and the police honor guard, led by Lt. Albert Dowdell of the Belle Glade Police Department. Lt. Albert Harper led the Pledge of Allegiance, and Rev. Desmond Harriott, director of Youth for Christ, gave the invocation.

Mrs. Brenda Montgomery, who was in charge of the welcome and occasion, acted out the part of a dispatcher. Inspector L. Lowery (as Car 57) reported a disturbance at the Mt. Zion A.M.E. Church on 10th Street in Belle Glade. He then checked with Chief Miller who said that indeed there was a special service at Mt. Zion for everyone in law enforcement.

As the service continued, Mrs. Vereen gave thanks to everyone from the cities of South Bay, Pahokee and Belle Glade and presented several plaques to those who have helped her with the program for five years. Patrolman Richard Kysor of F.O.P. presented a certificate award to Mrs. Vereen and Rev. Jones.

Chief Miller came forward and expressed his pleasure at having worked with Mrs. Vereen for 22 years. An 11 by 14 portrait of Mrs. Vereen in uniform was placed on an easel at the front and a proclamation proclaiming May 22 as Maude L. Vereen Day was read by Mayor Steve Weeks.

Chief Miller gave Mrs. Vereen a gold necklace inscribed with B.G.P.D. 36 Years. She was also given a dozen red and yellow roses. Chief Miller said Mrs. Vereen

Students at Rosenwald Elementary took a trip to Louisiana to festive Mardi Gras. The students learned of the different musics and how they originated. Jim Murray and family in concert...The First Baptist Church in Belle Glade will host Jim Murray and family in concert on June 8 at 7 p.m. The community is invited to attend.

Jim Murray in concert at First Baptist Church in Belle Glade

Jim Murray will be in concert at the First Baptist Church, Belle Glade, on June 8 at 7 p.m. Mr. Murray's singing career began with old-fashioned southern gospel music. After studying voice for two years at Michigan State University, he began his career in the gospel music field as a member of the Ambassadors Quartet and then later joined the Orrell Quartet where he first met Jake Hess of the Statesmen Quartet. Eighteen months later, he was invited to join the still newly-formed Imperials. His rich tenor voice settled into place and he began a stint that would last over two decades.

The first 10 years were spent backing artists such as Jimmy Dean, Elvis Presley, Pat Boone, and Carol Channing. Then in the late '70s and '80s the quartet began pulling away from these artists and began performing gospel concerts on their own.

Twenty years yielded over 50 albums, five Grammys and 15 Dove Awards in recognition of the Imperials' achievements.

Mr. Murray's move to a solo ministry was quickly noticed and in the summer of 1986, Word Records in Nashville signed him to an exclusive recording agreement.

The resulting inspirational debut was "Christians Arise," released in January 1987. Two of the singles, "Christians Arise" and "Pure Heart," reached number one status on the Contemporary Christian Magazine Inspirational Chart. He has also recorded a second album, "I Am His," and a third album, "The Faith."

In addition to his tour schedule, he took over where Larnelle Harris left off with the Gaither Vocal Band.

Having been a part of the recording of "Wings," "A Few Good Men," and the award winning "Homecoming" project, Mr. Murray again had an opportunity to be involved with four part harmony, Gaither-style.

The community is invited to attend the concert at the First Baptist Church, located on North Main Street, Belle Glade.

Road needs fixed

I'm a resident of Shive Island in Pahokee, I think I speak for other residents as well. I have been very much concerned and I'm appalled about the condition of the bad road known as East Seventh Street.

The bumps and cracks in the road have caused me, as well as other residents, to pay for numerous front end alignments.

I'm very upset about that.

I wonder why other neighborhoods do not have this problem? Is it a racial thing?

Thank you.

Editor's note: We spoke with Pahokee's City Clerk Debra Palmer who said as far as she knows, there have been no complaints made to city hall about the need for repairs on East Seventh Street in Shive Island. She said if this person will call her or City Manager Ken Schenck, they will discuss the matter with this citizen and see what can be done.

Caller responds to last week's caller

This is in response to last week's caller about the delinquent tax list. I'd like to say to the caller, thank God that they have the money to pay their taxes and that they should not be critical of those people who do not.

All of them have not "floated money" and they have not tried to not pay their taxes.

No recognition for fire department

I'd like to know why the Belle Glade Sun has not reported more of the many services the Belle Glade Fire Department has given in the past couple of months.

I know they've responded to several resident fires and they put them out and saved lives and property.

How come we don't see more pictures or reports in the paper and show these fire department personnel that we really do appreciate all their dedication?

I'd like to see more reports and more pictures of the firemen going out and doing their services and saving all these properties and lives.

Editor's note: A photo was used on the top of the front page three weeks ago at the fire department. We are also working with Fire Chief Tony Tuliano to get more news from the fire department. We would appreciate reader's comments if they would like to see more of this type of news.

Thank you for Speaking Out.

Hello...anybody out there?

I'd like to know if anybody out there in the City of Belle Glade, South Bay or Pahokee were aware that last week, May 16-21, was EMS Week?

Does anybody out there know what EMS stands for? It's emergency medical services. This means any and all emergency care that is given to a patient before they arrive at the hospital.

I never see any recognition for the fire department that responds and also for the ambulance services. We never see the good job they do. They're always there, 24-hours a day handing out band-aids, taking blood pressures. Does anybody out there really know what these services do for us?

Apparently the only people who even recognized any of them during that week was the hospital. They gave them free breakfast and free lunches and the community out there gave nothing.

Does anybody out there really understand what these people do for us? I very soon better start recognizing them very, very soon.

I feel sorry for these people sometimes because we treat them like crap.

Letters to the editor

Dear Editor:

With warm weather finally here, many of us will start joining our friends for a relaxing day on our area's lakes and rivers. As we do, the people of Bernie Little Distributors, Inc., Belle Glade's distributor of Anheuser-Busch beers, want everyone to remember to invest in some advance planning that can help make every boating occasion safe and enjoyable.

Brush up on boating safety. Stop by your local library or take a boating course. Call Boat/U.S. Foundation at 1-800-336-BOAT for information.

- Check your equipment. Make sure you have basic safety equipment on board -- such as life jackets for all passengers, fire extinguisher and navigation lights -- and that it works.
- And most important, stay in control. If you plan to enjoy beer or other alcohol beverages, remember to choose a "designated skipper" and "Know When To Say When." Using a designated skipper on the water is becoming as popular as designated drivers are on the highways. In fact, according to a 1993 Roper poll, 82 million Americans have used or volunteered to be a designated driver.

Let's all work to make our summer a safe one by remembering our individual responsibilities and watching out for each other.

Sincerely,
Joseph K. Little

Citizens should put future health care choices in writing, says AARP

While most people have strong feelings about what kind of medical intervention they would want should they become unable to make decisions for themselves, few have taken the steps necessary to ensure that their wishes are carried out, according to the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP).

Durable powers of attorney and living wills are advance directives -- legal instruments that allow people to retain control over the medical treatments they receive should they become unable to make their own decisions and that authorize others to make those decisions for them. The laws governing these instruments vary from state to state.

Having advance directives in place can spare a patient's family the agonizing legal and medical quandaries that often arise when decisions about whether or not to prolong life must be made," said AARP President-elect Margaret Dixon.

Durable powers of attorney from health care allow people to appoint a friend, relative, or other trusted individual as agent, giving the agent authority to make health care decisions should they become incompetent to do so. Courts usually will allow decisions made by these agents to stand.

Durable powers of attorney are recognized everywhere in the United States. Not only does the durable power of attorney allow the individual to choose an agent, but permits directions to be given about almost all types of health care decisions. These decisions can include the choice of accepting or refusing life-prolonging treatments.

Living wills are documents that give directions to physicians about life-sustaining treatment should individuals become terminally ill or permanently unconscious and unable to decide for themselves.

"Most people think that advance directives focus only on end-of-life decisions," said AARP's Dixon. "Actually, they can and should be used to express one's wishes about a wide range of treatment decisions, such as non-emergency surgery or drug therapy."

AARP is the nation's leading organization for people 50 and older. It serves their needs and interests through legislative advocacy, research, informative programs and community services provided by a network of local chapters and experienced volunteers throughout the country. The organization also offers members a wide range of special benefits, including Modern Maturity and the monthly Bulletin.

say "We spend our BUCKS in the cities on the MUCK."

People are trying to get the word around that it is important to spend money in the community where you live and/or work, so that more dollars are generated for the future growth of the community, as well as for the direct benefit of the workers and business owners.

I believe that it is important for the business owners to follow through on the positive momentum that has been developed thus far. In order to expect more people to pay for and/or utilize your business, it reasonably follows that businesses must change and improve the way they do business. At our agency, the West County Mental Health Clinic, our staff is dedicated to developing a "total quality management" style of doing business.

We are in the process of receiving training on these specific management techniques. After taking a long, hard look at how we do business, we are committed to instituting specific changes that will benefit our customers, as well as our employees. While other Glades businesses may not necessarily be able to implement the extensive requirements of the "total quality management" program, everyone can begin to consider that some changes will need to be made at their businesses in order to attract and keep customers. What those might need to be will obviously depend on your business. Business owners need to ask themselves "Why should someone want to do business here? Why wouldn't someone want to do business here?"

A message to the community Letters to the editor

The Glades Central Community High School Project Graduation Celebration activities are currently being planned by Glades Central Community High School seniors and their parents.

In the past, Project Graduation activities have represented the highest level of cooperation between parents, local community and county establishments.

Project Graduation activities have often served to unite schools and communities in providing alcohol-free and drug-free activities for students during the high-risk seasonal seasons of the year: prom and graduation.

The concept of Project Graduation is to make an effort to reduce teenage drinking and drug usage, unlawful driving behaviors and provide an environment of activities that young people will never forget.

An alcohol/drug-free party will be held after graduation on June 3, 1994. This party will provide an exciting, fun-filled, but safe celebration following graduation.

The party will begin at 10 p.m. All seniors and their dates are invited to attend. Tickets will be available at the Parents and Seniors Breakfast on May 28, at 9 a.m. in the St. Paul Church of God in Christ dining room.

This party will be very exciting. There will be lively music, dancing, food, games and special prizes. All students must abide by a few simple rules:

All students must arrive on time.

Students may leave any time they wish but may NOT return.

Prizes must be present to win prizes.

Alcohol/drugs will NOT be permitted on the premises.

Any businesses, organizations or individuals who would like to help in some way to truly make this a memorable night for the students are invited to contact:

Dr. Effie Grear or Alice F. Williams, chair
Project Graduation Planning Committee
c/o Glades Central Community High School
425 West Canal Street North
Belle Glade, Florida 33440

Dr. Effie Grear, principal
The parents feel that if they prevent just one serious injury or death to a student they can call the party a success. Please take time to care and support the Glades Central Community High School Project Graduation efforts.

Special thanks

As chairperson for the Fifth Annual Law Enforcement Appreciation Day at Mount Zion A.M.E. Church in Belle Glade, under the leadership of Rev. Isaac S. Jones, I would like to say that words of thanks are just not enough for the support given to me in preparing these services.

Special thanks goes out to William (Bill) Grear who designed and made the "Services Rendered" plaques.

Since I wanted these to be given from the members of the community, we are still short, but thanks for donations from the Delta Sorority, Gilbert's Jewelry, A & D Used Cars, Big "A", Rev. I.S. Jones and Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity.

If anyone would like a video copy of the service, you may contact Hoover Tolbert of Belle Glade.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Maude L. Vereen

A promise kept

Dear Editor:

This is just a letter to publicly thank Chief Michael Miller for keeping his word.

Several days the past couple of weeks I have seen officers out patrolling our neighborhood to help with the speeding problem. Hopefully this will continue and people will slow down so that someone does not get hurt.

Sincerely,
Sherrie Dulaney

I think if these questions are honestly responded to, some folks might decide to: clean their bathrooms more often, improve the attractiveness of their decor, improve the hours of accessibility to their services or to someone in charge, try to offer additional services, etc.

Glades-business owners are beginning to get positive attention focused on themselves from the community and from each other. Now they need to make sure they deserve this positive attention by trying to improve or expand their existing businesses practices.

Pahokee adds another name to list of notables from the community

Tammy Jackson
 Staff Reporter

From the small town of Pahokee comes many talented individuals. There has been great football players, singers and many others to come from the area and Sedgwick Pitts is another name to add to the list.

Pitts, 23, recently signed with the Beaumont Bullfrogs, a Texas-Louisiana League baseball team. The 1989 Pahokee High School graduate was a first-round draft pick for the Bullfrogs. Pitts will receive an undisclosed amount of money as an entry-level player.

While in high school, Pitts received a scholarship from Broward Community College, Fort Lauderdale, where he also played baseball. He later transferred to Tyler College in Tyler, Texas. He played baseball there from 1991-94. During his senior year he had a batting average of .333, 556 on base percentage and 21 stolen bases.

Speed is also a plus for Pitts. He has been clocked at 4.21 in the 40-yard dash, and 6.31 in the 60-yard dash.

Sedgwick Pitts

While at PHS, Pitts played baseball and he was a member of the cross country track team.

The 5'8", 160 lb. business education major said, "I am proud to be from Pahokee and I am very happy by the way I was raised. You don't have to be from the big city to make it."

Pitts went on to say, "I'll never forget Pahokee and I miss the rabbits!"

Pitts is the son of Deloris Bynes of Pahokee.

Local hospital adds catheterization to cardiac program

Everglades Regional Medical Center recently announced the addition of heart catheterization to its cardiac program. Dr. William W. Richardson, D.O., Invasive Cardiologist, is performing heart catheterizations at ERMC for the diagnosis of coronary artery disease.

This procedure is a technique whereby the heart doctor places a small catheter next to the arteries that wrap around the heart. Contrast material is injected into the arteries so they can be easily seen by the doctor and photographed.

This test is performed for most patients that have had chest pains and who have had an exercise stress test which may have decreased blood flow to the heart.

The test is 99 percent accurate in diagnosing most blockages within the coronary arteries. These blockages are responsible for angina (heart pain) and myocardial infarctions (heart attacks). Some patients who still have chest pain, in spite of drug therapy, might be candidates for revascularization, (angioplasty or bypass surgery).

This highly-technical procedure can be performed safely at the hospital in approximately 30 minutes. No longer do patients have to travel to Fort Pierce or West Palm Beach for heart catheterization. Patients can be examined in the morning with this test and be discharged from the hospital that evening.

For those patients who are found to have severe blockage of their arteries, arrangements are made to send the patients to West Palm Beach or Orlando for angioplasty or bypass. This is a very safe procedure which produces minimal discomfort and provides the doctor and patient with very valuable information.

Dr. Richardson has performed over 600 heart catheterizations during his cardiology fellowship at Cooper Hospital and Newark Beth Israel Medical Center. He has also been trained in coronary angioplasty (balloon dilation of blood vessels) and permanent pacemaker implantation.

For more information on heart catheterization, please call Everglades Regional Medical Center at 924-5201, or Dr. Richardson's office at 924-7711.

Canal Point students attend national tournament in West Virginia

Can you name the president who was inaugurated in New York and Washington, or write an adverb prepositional phrase with an indefinite pronoun object or delineate between 30 propaganda techniques? Four local sixth graders did that and more at the Academic Games League of America's National Tournament held April 23-27 at Oglebay Resort in Wheeling, W. Va.

Lindsay Curtis, Jonathan Lively, Caterina Powell and Walter Tucker, students at Canal Point Elementary School, were members of the Palm Beach County teams at the national competition. Their team placed first in the nation in Propaganda, a game of techniques of persuasion.

They were second after a series of playoffs in Linguistics, a language arts game. Their team was seventh in World Events which included current events and a theme round about Russia since the revolution.

Students from Kathryn E. Cunningham/Canal Point Elementary School participated in the Academic Games League of America Tournament in West Virginia.

Individually Lively and Tucker tied for sixth place in Propaganda. Lively finished sixth in World Events and Tucker, Powell and Curtis were undefeated in Linguistics.

Not all of the students' time was spent in competition. The resort offered paddleboats, miniature golf, an indoor pool, a zoo, a museum and horseback riding.

The students were among over 900 students competing at the national games. The local students were accompanied by Kathryn E. Cunningham/Canal Point Elementary teachers Pam Campbell and AvaSue Hickerson, and Pahokee High School teacher David Campbell.

ROTC program honors cadets at awards ceremony

Pahokee Air Force Junior ROTC held its First Awards Ceremony at Pahokee Middle/Senior High School on Thursday, May 18.

Twelve cadets were honored with national awards and recognition. All cadets who successfully completed the ROTC program were presented with a certificate of Training Accomplishment.

Outstanding cadets were named for the school year for each grade level. They were Freshmen - Angela McPherson;

Cynthia Salazar was also awarded the Air Force Outstanding Cadet Award for 1993-94.

Additionally, 20 cadets were inducted into the AF JROTC Kitty Hawk Air Society. The Kitty Hawk Air Society is an Honor Society of outstanding cadets. The objectives of Kitty Hawk are to promote higher academic standards, and excellence service to the community and school, develop leadership and self confidence and continued educational development after high school.

Eugenia Jones, principal, commented that the awards program was tremendously successful and was a fitting cap to an outstanding first year.

Colonel Heltsle, AF JROTC instructor, said "All cadets can be extremely proud of their accomplishments and are to be congratulated for an exceptional first-year program."

Elementary school still involved in learning process at CDS

Our elementary school is still going strong - as the end of the year approaches. Field trips, graduation and day to day lessons are keeping our students busy and excited in our school life.

On May 3, the daycare, 4-year-old kindergarten, 5-year-old kindergarten, and first grades traveled to the Krasv Center in West Palm Beach to see Circus Parade. The children learned about various sections of the orchestra as well as enjoyed the musical presentation.

Fishing gear is not something students usually bring to school but on Friday, May 6, Miss Bottom's sixth grade class came to school prepared for a day of fishing and picnicking at John Stretch Park. The class enjoyed this day of fun and relaxation as a day of reward for their hard work in school recently.

The sixth graders also displayed their fabulous hand posters they created last week. They each chose a lesson to illustrate on their posters. The posters were awarded first, second and third places and an honorable mention. First place went to Allison Torrecilla with a poster theme of cardiovascular system. Second place went to Libby Mendez with a poster theme of sweat glands. Third place went to Kara Histon with a poster theme of the cardiovascular system. Honorable mention went to Jason Morris for Most Original Idea. The poster theme was the danger of smoking. The posters were judged on how well the posters taught a lesson as well as effort. Congratulations sixth graders!

Another winner in our elementary school was Jamie Evans for winning the contest of Miss Blue Revue.

Congratulations Jamie! Coming up in our elementary school next week is kindergarten graduation on Tuesday, May 24, at 7 p.m. in the First Baptist Church Sanctuary. The sixth grade graduation will be held Thursday, May 26, in the First Baptist Church Sanctuary.

Glade View students enjoy May Day activities

The Glade View Elementary PTO sponsored a May Day celebration at the school on Friday, May 6. The students were able to participate in the May Day Festivities that were planned and provided by the parents and staff. The funds raised will help pay the transportation costs of the Parent/Child trip to Disney World on June 1.

A Teacher/Appreciation Day was held Monday, May 16. The PTO provided cake and ice cream for the staff in the Parent Center. A card of appreciation was presented to each staff member.

Glade View School will have the first distribution of RIF (Reading is Fundamental) books during the first week in June. Each of the over 1,200 students at Glade View will be able to select one free book. The PTO will be helping with this project.

On Wednesday, May 25, the second Parent Day was held. Parents visited classrooms to see what their children are learning at school.

The PTO Officers for the 1993-94 school year have been Rose Battle, president; Mary Morgan, first vice president; Cynthia Nelson, second vice president; Georgia Mae Jenkins secretary; and, Geneva Hollis, treasurer.

Senior Class Night

This evening (May 26) GCHS's graduating seniors will be attending their class night program in the school's gym at 7:30 p.m. Planned are numerous awards and recognitions, skits and recalling of memories for the class of '94. The public is invited.

This follows Wednesday evening's Academic Banquet, which recognized students in the top 5 percent of all four classes. Dinner was served, then many were noted for their academic achievements and contributions to Glades Central and the community. Additional scholarships and awards were also given to various graduating seniors.

Final Exams

Most seniors have had this week off without worries of exams. If seniors have passed both nine weeks grading periods in their second semester, they are exempt from the exams. However, underclassmen finals loom ahead, scheduled for the week of June 6.

Safety Tips

Facts From the Dept. of Transportation

(NAPS)—Allergy medications may not only impair your driving ability, they may put you on the road to jail if you have an accident while they are in your bloodstream. If you are taking allergy medication, don't drive.

It's now more likely you'll be spotted if you are driving while impaired. The U.S. Dept. of Transportation is training police officers to be Drug Recognition Experts.

They can recognize if you are under the influence of drugs. And in most states allergy medicines are considered drugs.
